- All the facilities are, just like the restaurant located in the basement floor of the hotel.
- Lunches on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday and dinner on Tuesday and Thursday are included. As are coffee and tea and such during the meeting.
- When checking in you should have received a “meal card”. Please do not forget to take this with you when you are going to the restaurant for a meal.
- There is a reserved area for us in the restaurant.
- If you are not staying the whole meeting, your arrangement and your meal card is adapted accordingly.
- Egmond aan Zee is a small village and everything you need can be reached by foot. There is a regular bus service to Alkmaar train station and from there you can reach almost all other destinations in The Netherlands.

Egmond aan Zee is a small coastal village. However in the area are a number of interesting places to visit. For example Alkmaar. Alkmaar is a historic city and certainly worth a visit. Easy to reach by bus.

Other places to visit are for example Haarlem. But of course Amsterdam is not too far away either.

Furthermore there are several walking routes in the area. Karin has a few prints of these routes available.
